

Ogier Global FinTech in Dubai

Ogier has opened in Dubai, providing clients with on-the-ground legal, corporate services, and regulatory consulting. Our approach is to keep it simple. We are agile and strive to work through complexity to provide sound judgment on what really matters, not losing sight of the need for effective project management and superb client service on each transaction.

5 things to know about FinTech in Dubai

Introducing the DIFC Innovation License, tailored for tech firms, offering discounts and growth incentives. With 800+ startups, DIFC is the Middle East, Africa, and Southern Asia (MEASA) region's tech hub for expansion and innovation

DIFC innovation license:

The DIFC innovation license caters to tech entities from any sector, offering subsidised commercial licensing, co-working space access, and visa benefits. Designed for quick registration, it enables swift integration into the DIFC ecosystem, fostering growth and innovation across the board

Licensing requirements:

FinTech licensing in the DIFC demands a physical presence and is aimed at companies offering non-financial tech solutions. It excludes firms involved in financial services or selling physical products, focusing on those providing innovative technology solutions

Who qualifies for the DIFC innovation Licence?

A diverse range of technology enablers, specifically targeting firms within the technology and innovation sectors that aim to develop, test, or launch new, novel, or innovative products

FinTech accelerator programme: Initiated in 2017 under DIFC FinTech hive. This flagship programme connects innovative startups with major financial institutions, providing partnership opportunities, investor exposure, and marketing outreach. There are over 2,900 applicants to date

Integrated Legal and Corporate Administration Services:

We work with Ogier's legal teams to incorporate and administer vehicles including the formation and administration of asset finance vehicles, public and private debt issuers and securitisation vehicles
